Sounds such as wind, rain and birds, as students build a database of the types of the country. From these recordings, the ness as natural as possible by monitoring undergraduate students work together to help na...